Stories about women, urban tourism and gastronomy

WRITER

I am a writer and freelance copywriter focused on stories about women, urban trips and gastronomy with more than a decade of professional experience. My stories stand out for their personal style and own voice, but also for their power to connect emotionally with the readers by their skilful use of language and its narrative quality. I am also the author of an independent novel, "Tiempo de Breitner" (2016), published and distributed worldwide via Amazon, which has sold more than 300 copies.

"TIEMPO DE BREITNER"

A novel about the experience of moving abroad, from a feminine and generational perspective. A story about the journey between expectations and reality of a generation, the one in their thirties, with Amsterdam and Barcelona as co-protagonists and stage.

"Tiempo de Breitner" has 483 followers in its Facebook page and it was selected by Amazon to be one of the featured books in its "Indie month", October 2017.
